Series Title: GoBabies & "Alphabet Road"
Curriculum Area: Social Development
Grades: pre-K - 1
of Programs/Length: 1/60:00

GoBabies® Alphabet Road™ offers a new alternative to animated programming for pre-schoolers by taking them on real life field trips in which they become full time explorers. Just when pre-schoolers are beginning to exuberantly express their curiosity, Red, Roxy, Violet, Simon and Lincoln lead them on adventures to real life places at their own natural pace.

GoBabies® Alphabet Road™, makes it fun for pre-school children to develop positive attitudes towards learning as they naturally discover how their curiosity leads to exciting new knowledge, ideas and experiences in the real world.

The five GoBabies puppets, as surrogate adventurers, explore and discover each new place, corresponding to a letter along Alphabet Road. . In the pilot program, F is for Farm, do you know where milk comes from? the GoBabies meet Farmer Brown who leads them on an exploration of his dairy farm - beginning outside the pasture where the cows are grazing, going to the milking barn where, we see Rosie and her friends being milked, to the storage room where the big truck comes to pick up the milk to take it to the super market, finishing the adventure with a glass of delicious cold milk. As the curious GoBabies ask many questions, and make many observations, Farmer Brown encourages their exploration and discovery from counting cows in the pasture to smelling the cow barn to feeling the warm milk after it comes from the cow to seeing the big truck pick up the milk to take it to the super market.

The program's unique 5 in1 multi-sensory format, all based on real life footage, provides repetition and multiple ways for children to learn, first with Farm Story, followed by an interactive song, Moo Moo Milk; Farm Signs in which children follow the teacher signing words from the story, Farm Fun, with its interactive games about colors, numbers and size concepts, and My Farm Story, which asks children to retell the story in their own words.
